Student Status and Tuition Fees

There are two types of statuses for students coming from our overseas partner universities: exchange student (or tokubetsu chokogakusei) and exchange research student (or tokubetsu kenkyugakusei). Since the difference between the two is significant, please carefully read the descriptions below.

Exchange students (or tokubetsu chokogakusei)

Exchange students (or tokubetsu chokogakusei) are undergraduate students or graduate students from other universities who wish to attend courses at the University of Tsukuba. Their admission is granted upon mutual consultation between the two universities. Exchange students can earn credits if they pass the required examinations, and credit transfer is also available depending on the system at their home universities. Exchange students should confirm the credit transfer arrangements with the International Office at their home universities before applying for the exchange programs at the University of Tsukuba. Exchange students are required to register for more than 8 periods per week.

* Graduate-level exchange students cannot earn credits from the Japanese Language Courses offered by the Center for Education of Global Communication (CEGLOC). Therefore, it is highly recommend to check the website of each graduate school on the courses you can take before applying for our exchange program.

Exchange research students (or tokubetsu kenkyugakusei)

Exchange research students (or tokubetsu kenkyugakusei) are graduate students from other universities who wish to conduct research under the guidance of an academic advisor (Academic Supervisor) at the University of Tsukuba. Their admission is granted upon mutual consultation between the two universities. Exchange research students will focus on their research rather than attending courses, and therefore they cannot earn credits. (It is possible, however, for them to audit some courses with the prior approval from course lecturers.)

Tuition fees and tuition waiver

Applicants from our partner universities

Students who are admitted under either status from institutions with which the University of Tsukuba has a reciprocal tuition waiver agreement may be granted a tuition waiver. Please be aware, however, that the existence of an exchange agreement does not necessarily mean that you will be automatically granted a tuition waiver. (The number of students eligible for tuition fee waiver is fixed according to each student exchange agreement. In cases where the number of applicants exceeds the fixed number of tuition waiver places, the tuition fees will not be waived, even if the University of Tsukuba has a reciprocal tuition waiver agreement with the home university. For more information, please consult with the International Office at your home university.)

Applicants from our non-partner universities

Both types of students must pay tuition fees to the University of Tsukuba. The amount of tuition for exchange students is calculated on a per-credit basis and is currently set at 14,800 yen per credit. The tuition fees for exchange research students are calculated on a per-month basis and are currently set at 29,700 yen per month.
Exchange students must pay their tuition fees at the beginning of each semester. Exchange research students must pay the tuition fees for their entire exchange period at the beginning of their first semester.

Summary: The following table compares the two student status types, the exchange student status and the exchange research student status.

JASSO Scholarship

JASSO program description

The Japan Student Services Organization (JASSO), an organization affiliated with the Japanese Ministry of Education, offers scholarships to international students through the “JASSO Student Exchange Support Program (Scholarship for Short-term Study in Japan).”

The aim of this program is to promote student exchange between Japanese universities and those overseas, to jointly enhance the quality of educational and scholastic activities, and to further mutual understanding and foster friendship between nations.

The JASSO scholarships will be provided to qualified students at the undergraduate and graduate levels who are currently enrolled at universities abroad and will also be admitted to Japanese universities as exchange students.

The details of JASSO scholarship can be found at the JASSO website.

How I calculate my GPA on the JASSO scale?

JASSO uses its own grading scheme to evaluate applicants’ academic performance. Its grade point average (GPA) is based on the grades at applicants’ home universities. Since different universities may use different grading scales, JASSO has prepared the following table of examples to demonstrate the way for converting applicants’ grades to JASSO’s scale. As you can see, JASSO’s GPA is based on a three-point scale, and your GPA in the JASSO scheme is to be rounded to two decimal places. Your grades during the previous year must be included in this calculation.

Example: If your institution uses a typical North American grading system (A, B, C, D, and F) or a system comparable to it, you may use the 5-level scale #2.

Various Arrangements

Visa
Successful applicants must obtain a “College Student” visa to enter Japan as short-term exchange students. To obtain the “College Student” visa, you need to submit the “Application for Certificate of Eligibility for the Status of Residence.” We can process your visa application only after you have been accepted to the University of Tsukuba and after we confirm all of your documents, including financial documents. That is why it is of utmost importance that you correctly complete the “Application for certificate of eligibility” before sending it to us. Please read the “sample” when you fill in the forms.

*It takes more than one month to receive the certificate of eligibility from the immigration bureau after submitting the application documents.

Airport Transportation from Narita Airport or Haneda Airport
Express buses are available from Narita Airport or Haneda Airport to the central part of Tsukuba Science City, where the University of Tsukuba is located. It takes about two hours from Narita Airport or Haneda Airport to the Tsukuba Center Bus Terminal.

Housing
The University of Tsukuba will make efforts to secure residence halls for successful applicants. You do not need to submit any documents to us before arriving to Tsukuba. The University will assign a room for each exchange student. Please note that when you move into a university residence hall, you need to pay a deposit of 30,000 yen.
*You do not necessarily live in a room of a residence hall. If you find accommodation by yourself, please let us know it immediately.

Orientations
Upon arrival in Tsukuba, you are required to attend orientations regarding foreign resident registration, course registration procedures, student health insurance, life in Tsukuba, and other useful matters.

Japanese language
Since most of the class instruction and research guidance is given in Japanese, a sufficient knowledge of Japanese is essential to pursue your study or research in Japan. Therefore, you are strongly recommended to study Japanese before coming to Japan.

Every semester, the CEGLOC offers 15-week courses of Japanese for international students. The courses for graduate students are 10 weeks.
Academic advisor

A faculty member of an appropriate college will be appointed to each exchange student as their academic advisor. These advisors will work closely with students and provide necessary information, academic assistance, and other support.

Tutor

A student of the University of Tsukuba will be assigned as a tutor to each incoming international student to assist them in the study of the Japanese language, studies related to their academic field, and various kinds of procedures.

Advisory services

Advisory services are available at the International Student Center. International students who are confronted with problems in academic matters, human relations, finances, and other everyday matters are welcome to seek guidance from experienced advisors.

Japan’s National Health Insurance plan

All international students must enroll in Japan’s National Health Insurance plan. The premiums are about 20,000 yen for a year. This plan will cover seventy (70) percent of incurred medical costs.

Estimated costs of attending the University of Tsukuba

You must have a solid financial basis to live and study in a foreign country. The following table provides the estimated average costs of studying and living in Tsukuba, including books and supplies, tuition fees, health insurance, and other necessary expenses.
